

Welcome

Hello and welcome to this week's news!

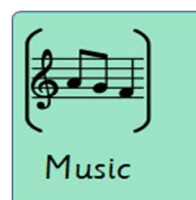

In maths, the children have continued to explore and consolidate their growing knowledge of addition and addition skills. Some children have been working hard to record and represent their thinking with improved accuracy. While others have been working hard to recall number bonds to 20 quickly and use this knowledge to make and write related number facts and equations.

In both phonics and literacy, the children have continued to apply their growing phonic knowledge to their reading and writing across the curriculum. We are very proud of the children for showing resilience, as they work hard to develop their handwriting skills. They have happily engaged daily, in a range of gross and fine motor skill. This is to help develop stability and strengthen of their core, arms and shoulder muscles.

In music this week, the children have been happily and enthusiastically singing, signing and playing percussion instruments to a range of songs- we have even started to practice our Christmas songs ready for our Christmas performance!!

This week we have really enjoyed learning about 'Road safety'. Firstly, the children listened carefully to 'Super Cat's Road safety Story.' Before using roll play to act out the story as Supper Cat's Helpers. To help use remember the very important steps for road safety, we learnt Super Cat's safety rap.

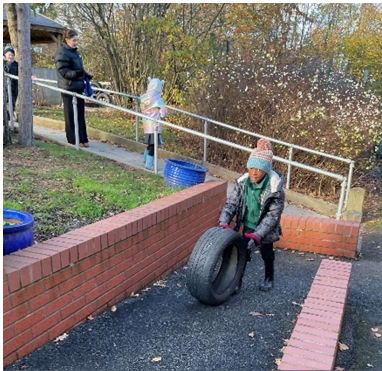

The children also ordered the safety steps, and some children used the small world people and cars to represent their thinking. Finally, we explored the school grounds and found a real 'Zebra Crossing' to practice crossing the road safety.

Finally, we have been wrapping up warm and embracing the colder weather and enjoy our time outside the classroom. The children have continued to work and play collaboratively and build warm and friendly relationships with each other, well done everyone!

Thank you for all hard work!

Have
