We have had a great first week back after the holidays in Robins class!

The children were fantastic on our first trip as a whole class to Lapworth Museum in Birmingham. Everyone was sensible on the journey and listened to the adults when at the Museum. Some children took part in a treasure hunt and others enjoyed exploring the Museum and looking at the fossils and dinosaur skeletons.

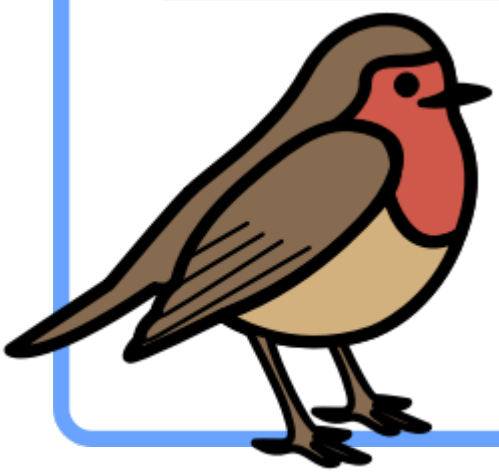

We have been creating poppies ready for Remembrance Day. All the children listened really well to instructions on how to draw their own poppy.

We had another fantastic trip on Thursday afternoon when we visited the Gurdwara. All of Robins class were very respectful, taking off their shoes when they got to the temple and covering their hair. They listened to the basic principles of Sikhism and ended their visit by trying a turban!
