Class 11

Another busy week in class 11!

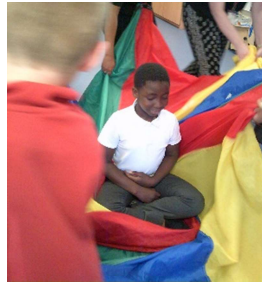

In topic work we have been thinking about survival in the stone age and what skills we would need. We talked about where we would live and how we would get food and water and keep warm. Some of us were more confident than others that we would be able to survive back then!

We also finished our clay 'bone' necklaces which look very stylish!

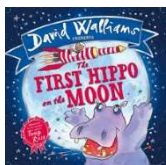

In Numeracy we have been looking at data handling and statistics. We have been collecting our own data from our peers and creating tally charts and bar charts to record our findings.

In PE we played some parachute team building games trying to stop a seagull stealing everyone's chips and creating a mexican wave to control objects travelling in the surface of the parachute. We had to work hard together to succeed.

This week we met our new teachers ready for September and our year six friends went to spend some more time at their new school. Everyone is really excited now about new adventures after the holidays.

In story time we read The First Hippo on the Moon by David Walliams- it was very funny!

Please can we ask that all children bring in a carrier bag next week to take home any work and belongings at the end of term, thank you.
