

Badgers have settled back into class routines. They have had an exciting week when they found an egg buried in the sand tray. We talked about what could be growing inside and we have put it into a cosy nest and we are waiting for it to crack open. The children think it may be a dinosaur and I think they might be right! Our next topic is all about Dinosaurs. The children have made a super dinosaur mural using mark making tools. They have been colour mixing independently and practising their cutting skills. They used their bear hunt story maps to help them on our bear hunt on Wednesday and they have been practising how to retell the story. They have also practised their careful counting and sorted the Numicon from 1 to 5. In Phonics the children played musical statues to some pop nursery rhymes.

Well done Badgers :) Enjoy your weekend, Mrs Jeffries and Badger's Class Team.
